"MOTHER'S GONE"

Little did friends and loved ones of Mrs. James Younger dream that she would be separated by death from her home so early in life and within a week's time.

Saturday night, October 2, the birth of the second daughter, Rebecca Brashear, occurred and, generally, the mother had been in perfect condition, but two hours later Mrs. Younger was taken with a convolution. Mr. Younger hastily called Dr. Simons, who had, but a short time before, left the bedside. Another convolution seized her and she rapidly grew worse. Dr. Owen, of this city, and Dr. Cecil, of Louisville, were summoned. They with Dr. Simons and Mrs. Dunn, worked with all their might to relieve her. Ureptic poison set upon and hopes for her recovery then wavered. Friday morning at 11 o'clock she died.

The funeral was held from the home Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The arrangements were kindly conducted by Mr. Hamman and loving friends of Mrs. Younger. The Rev. Mr. Howell, who performed the services, was a minister of the church of the Epworth League of which she was a diligent member. The interment took place in the Cloverport cemetery. Most beautiful flowers were sent in remembrance, and the following young women were flower girls: Misses Manie Dehaven, Ray Heyser, Lula Sevara and Eva Plank. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. Byrne Severs, John D. Babage, Lafe Bolen, Fred Ferry, M. Perkins and Harry Newson.

Sorely shocked from her death were Mrs. Younger's friends of her old home near Union Star and Stephensburg, and many attended the funeral. Among those who grew from distance were: Mrs. C. M. McGloahan, Mrs. Bette Neper, Mrs. L. M. Roberts, Mrs. Milner, Miss Milner, Mr. Sam Dix, Mr. Perkins, Miss Maggie Hoyle, Claude Younger, Sarah Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hermann, Mr. and Mrs. Julie Brashear, Mrs. Sallie Moorman, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Sipple, Miss Eva McGloahan, Mrs. Morris Beard, Mrs. Percy Beard, Mrs. John Kincheloe, George Younger, Misses Younger, Mrs. Katie Sipple.

Through a confusion of telegrams Mrs. Younger's brother, Mr. Owen Brashear, of Shreveport, La., did not receive the sad news until Sunday morning which was too late to get here for the funeral.

Mrs. Younger, before her marriage to Mr. James S. Younger, of this city, was Miss Sue Avitt Brashear. The wedding took place June 1, 1904. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brashear, died when she was thirteen, and she fell into the good hands of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McGloahan. Mrs. Younger was thirty-one years of age. Besides the infant child, she leaves another little girl, Euclid McGloahan, who will live with her father and grandmother. Mr. and Mrs. McGloahan have taken in a baby to raise. For a week the precious little babe was tenderly fostered by Mrs. Joe Sawyer, who was always so sweet to the mother as a neighbor and friend.

Mrs. Younger's life can be summed up in the word, Christian. She was not only a member of the Christian church, but she lived its teachings. Like everyone, she had friends who were blinded by the true light of her soul; they treated her harshly, but when the end came, it was harder for them than for her, because she was forgiving notwithstanding her heart was crushed. However, greater was the number of those who loved her dearly, comforted her in her disappointments and rejoiced with her in her pleasures. To them her life was a wonderful balm and a comfort in grief-stricken homes all over the country.

Just a little while, in the still hours of the morning, before death came, Mrs. Younger was asked if she was ready to die, and she answered, "If it is the Lord's will." She called for her children and husband. The sight was heart-rending to friends at the bedside, for they realized what dear little Eudora says, "Mother's gone."

Land Sales.

Myrtle A. Howard to Frank A. Oelze, 70 1/2 acres near the distillery on the pike, for $1,700 cash.

Chas. B. Elder sold to D. H. Severs one tract of land of 133 acres, near the pike, for $1,150.

Birthday Party.

A birthday party was given Friday in honor of little Miss Katie Dora Kramer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kramer, it being her eighth birthday. Those who were present were: Misses Dimpie Bonner, Mary Pete, Zivola Kramer, Fannie Lister Kramer, Emily Reid, Vera Mooreman, Marion Allen, Aretta Gilliland, Beaupre Pete and Master Eddie Gilliland. Delightful refreshments were served.

Judge Ahl's Friends.

Judge Wm. Ahl has no moral right to ask any of his many friends who stood by him for the nomination for County Judge to support the Republican county ticket. We know Judge Ahl to be every inch a man and we do not believe he will stultify himself by doing it. He and his friends know he was treated outrageously and he may condone the outrage for personal reasons, still he cannot ask his friends to do so.

A Good Republican.

Does Type-Writing.

Miss Edith Burn has charge of the type-writer at the News office. She will also be pleased to do type-writing for the public at regular type-writer's rates. She uses the machine well.

Resort Will Stay Open.

Nemesis Nielsen, of Tar Springs, and his friend, William Marsh, left Wednesday for Chicago to join his family, who are there for the winter in their home at 27 Ashland Boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen will return next May to open the resort as usual. The spring will be left in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Gid French, who will occupy the hotel and collect the entrance fees.

Card Of Thanks.

I wish to thank all who were so kind during my recent bereavement. I feel that I can never repay the goodness shown.

THOS. J. MOORE ANSWERS ALLEN R. KINCHELOE PUBLICLY

Kincheloe's Letter Misleading to the People--Moore and Others Want to Know Why Roy Cain, Gabe Taul and Judge Ahl were Turned Down.

REPUBLICANS "GOT MONEY AND WILL SPEND IT"

Hartensburg, Ky., Oct. 7, 1909.
Hon. Allen R. Kincheloe, Chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee of Breckinridge County.

Dear Sirs:

On September 28, I received at the hands of Mr. Jesus Eskridge, a letter signed by you as follows, to-wit:

"Allen R. Kincheloe, Chm. Rep. Can. Com., and for the Republican candidates" and which is as follows:

Hartensburg, Ky., Sept. 25, 1909.

Hon. T. J. Moore, Chairman Democratic Campaign Committee and the Democratic Candidates.

Dear Sirs:

At a meeting of the Republican Campaign Committee, held with the Republican candidates for office, it was unanimously determined to submit an agreement to the Democratic Campaign Committee, that the campaign would be conducted without the use of money or whiskey, or any other illegal or improper means or device.

Acting upon this sentiment for an absolutely fair, clean and legal election, I was authorized by the candidates and the committee, to submit the following proposition to you, to the committee and to each of the Democratic candidates:

First. That no money or whiskey shall be used in the canvass, directly or indirectly, by the candidates, or by the campaign committees, or by the county committees for any improper or illegal purpose to influence voters in any manner.

Second. That no "Bat-wings" or any other illegal device shall be used in this election.

Third. That the respective campaign committees, county committees and all the candidates on both sides, shall keep an accurate and complete account of all money expended, the purpose thereof, the amounts and names of each person contributing any money to either of the candidates or committees, or to any or either of them, and the names shall be published in the News and Leader.

Fourth. That each candidate on both tickets, including deputies, and each member of the respective campaign committees, and each member of the county committees shall take a written oath before a duly authorized officer that he will not employ any of the methods, means or devices set out in this writing. The oaths to be preserved in some book.

Fifth. That a sum of five hundred dollars ($500) be raised, one half to be given by the Republican candidate and one half to be given by the Democratic candidate to be placed in the Bank of Hardinsburg, or the Farmers Bank, for the purpose of offering a reward for the arrest and conviction of any persons whatsoever they may be who shall violate any of the election laws in this campaign and election.

I state emphatically that all the Republican candidates and each member of the Republican campaign committee, and members of the Republican county committee, stand ready and willing to enter into this agreement and abide by all its provisions in good faith. It is desired by us that you and each of you give this proposition serious consideration, both as Democrats and citizens. Certainly we realize that the wishes of the Democratic candidates will determine whether this proposition is accepted or rejected, but we trust they will take the same view of this moral question that our candidates do. We are not wedded to these exact propositions, but any agreement that embodies these ideas will be satisfactory to us. An answer is desired as soon as possible, and we hope it will be forthcoming by the 7th day of October, next. This will give plenty of time for the committees to consult and be informed and consulted.

Very respectfully,

ALLEN R. KINCHELOE,

Chairman Campaign Committee and for the Republican Candidates.

MISS HENSLEY DIES IN FOREIGN FIELD.

Hartensburg Shocked Over Cablegram Received Monday Telling of the Death of the Lovely Young Girl.

NO PARTICULARS RECEIVED.

Monday morning Mrs. Lucretia Hensley received a cablegram from China telling of the death of her daughter, Miss Eula Hensley.

She had been in the foreign field in the service of a missionary work for the Baptist denomination one year. Her age was just twenty-five years.

Just before her departure abroad, Miss Hensley made a brief visit here and delivered a short address at the Baptist church. What she said was deeply impressed upon the minds and hearts of those who heard her, and it is with keen regret that Cloverport received the sad news.

VERY BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

Dr. Evelyn Bush Doing Much For Sufferers.

The following is a list of the grand jury for this term of court: Herbert DeJarnette, foreman; Sylvester Baker, T. N. Dyer, Jno. W. Hendrick, Thos. S. Doofon, John Jarboe, J. S. Manning, H. H. Newton, B. Hicks, W. L. Hinke, H. C. Pate, J. L. Stith.

Doing Much For Sufferers.

The Louisville Herald, Sunday, October 3, contained a most interesting article about "The Sanatorium." It is a new institution of Osteopathy founded by Dr. Evelyn Bush, and is situated on Fourth Ave., between York and Breckinridge in Louisville. What osteopathy has done for the little son of Dr. Bush is marvelous and for that reason she has opened a sanatorium for the relief of sufferers all over the world.

The Weakest Governor

Rhode Island Ever Had.

Governor Wilson has again confirmed the general opinion that he is the weakest Governor the State of Kentucky has ever had, when he sent out that letter inviting open lawlessness and clamorous fights. He offers a home to the wife who will follow him in defense of their lives and property. There has always been a law in this State--we suppose the Governor knows about it--that gives a man his freedom under a murder charge when he can prove self-defense. Why does Gov. Wilson want to heap kindling on the fire by coming out and reiterating a statement he has formerly made and one that has been covered by the statutes for years? For no other reason, we think, than he showed when he made his Detroit speech telling out-of-state people how lawless Kentuckians were. His reason in both cases was that of a weak but boastful man--Madisonville Journal.

Takes Place At St. Anthony's When Miss Mary Jo Mattingly And Mr. Thos. A. Mattingly ly Were Married.

PROMINENT YOUNG PEOPLE.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season was solemnized at St. Anthony's church, Long Lick, Wednesday, October the 7th, the contracting parties being Miss Mary Jo Mattingly, and Mr. and Thomas Augustus Mattingly.

The church was artistically decorated with evergreens and roses. At 5:30 the bridal party entered to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, rendered by Miss Irene Mattingly. Little Miss Lee Beryl and Master Jack, the bride's niece and nephew, acting flower girl and ribbon boy. Both children were dressed in white. Little Miss Lee carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations and ferns held with white ribbon. They proceeded up the center aisle to the bridal pews, where Master Jack untied the ribbons and stepping aside they allowed the bridal party to pass to the altar. The attendants were Miss M. H. Cornwall, of Wellington, and Bernard Rhodes, of Kirtland. The bride and bridesmaid wore elegant white gowns, dressed with hats and gloves to match and carried white prayer books and smother roses.

After the ceremony and celebration of Law Nuptial Mass by Rev. Father Genet. The bridal party returned to the home of the bride, where an elaborate 12 o'clock luncheon was served.

The groom is the youngest son of J. L. Mattingly and a prosperous farmer, while the bride is the eldest daughter of H. C. Mattingly and has figured prominently in school work.

TO GET A MAN.

See How Easily The Actresses
Catch Them. Here's How They Do It.

"I've heard them say that an actress's way of talking to a man has a lot to do with 'catching' him. Just what, dear lady, is meant by 'way of talking'?"

"Oh," she gurgled, "that's the easiest question you've asked me, and I'll let you in on the secret. An actress, in her stage experience, has learned the psychology of audiences. She has learned what will make them smile, laugh, frown or cry. She has learned the difference between--well, the New York type of audience and the Boston type of audience, between the Chicago type and the Los Angeles sort. Her professional experience has shown her each of their idiosyncrasies. And just as she has come to learn the moods of big groups of people and the way to cater to them, just so, as if by second nature, does she know how to get in touch with the moods and whims of the individual man. That's why the man feels that the actress understands him better than any girl he ever met--even after he has known her for only a few hours."

"Don't 'home girls' know those same tricks, though?" asked the novelist.

"Um--um," the actress said, shaking her head. "You find, generally, that they do not. It is then necessary to get on a companionable basis with a man, where it takes an actress only hours. 'Home girls,' too, usually harp on one or two conversational subjects.

They do not know the little 'familiarities' that the actress has rehearsed and can act out to perfection. They are unable to simulate a spirit of frankness as well as the actress; they are handicapped by chaperones--and show me the man who doesn't hate the chaperone and they frequently have no other interest in life than to dress up. Then, also, they don't give a man as many competitors, or rivals, to fight against as a girl on the stage, and there's nothing that'll make a man fall more in love--and more quickly--than a lot of other fellows after the same girl."

George Jean Nathan, in October Smart Set.

As to the work in the county there are many things that could be said, but we will only mention a few. We think advancement has been made and especially as to better organization and better equipment for teachers. We are not up with our finances. There are two reasons for this, one was the small attendance at our Spring convention on account of the bad weather, the other we need not mention.

Breckenridge county's appointment is $125. We have paid $80 and have in hand about $10. The question is, can we afford not to pay in full? We think not. We have no hesitancy in saying the money we contribute to this cause is accomplishing as much good as any similar amount contributed for any other religious purpose.

We believe there are twenty-five or more persons in the county who can pay one dollar that we may pay in full. Will you do it? Who will be the first? We will acknowledge the receipt by publishing the names of all who contribute, in our county papers. Please do not treat this matter lightly.

In conclusion we again urge all schools to send delegates and any one who may desire to go from the county to send us their names.

Making Money On the Farm

XV.—Locating and Planting the Orchard

By G. V. GREGORY,
Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture"

Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association

EVERY farm should have at least a few fruit trees to bear fruit for home use. Where soil and climate are favorable and a good market can be secured fruit growing for market is a very profitable business.

The most important point in planning an orchard is selecting the location. The land should be naturally well drained if possible. If not, artificial drainage should be resorted to. A moderate northeast slope is the most desirable. The soil should be well drained, as water quickly in the spring, and the danger of having the fruit buds nipped by an untimely frost is lessened. An orchard on such a slope also suffers less from sun scald and drought.

If the hill on which the farm buildings are placed is large enough the orchard can be located on the north slope and the buildings on the south. A windbreak of a double row of evergreens on the west and north will stop the snow in winter and help to keep the frost down in the early summer. To complete this protection the windbreak will have to be extended all the way around, since in summer many of the heavy winds come from a south-easterly direction.

Air Drainage.

The question of air drainage is fully as important as that of water drainage. Cold air is heavy and drains rapidly into the lower parts of the air on the slope is warm and dry. The difference of a few feet in elevation often makes a difference of several degrees in temperature. An orchard located on a rise of land will escape many of the frosts that come down from a plain or an orchard less favorably located. Trees on a hill are less likely to be troubled with fungous diseases, since dry air is not favorable to them.

A soil rich in nitrogen promotes leaf and wood growth at the expense of fruit. For this reason a complete lack of nitrogen is well adapted to fruit growing as some other kinds. Loamy clay soil underlaid with a porous sub-soil makes an ideal foundation for an orchard. Cleared timberland is also very good.

To expect success with an orchard if you plant the trees in a hole in the soil. The land should be put in to some cultivated crop for at least a year before setting out the trees. This gets the soil in good shape, and the trees will have a fair chance from the start.

What to Plant.

Having decided on the location for the orchard, the next step is to select the kinds and varieties of fruit to be grown. The apple is the most widely grown fruit in this country. It has hardy varieties that can be grown well up into the northern sections.

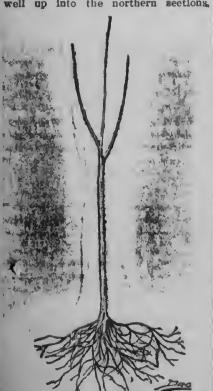

FIG. XXXIX.—THIRTY YOUNG APPLE TREES, WHILE OTHER VARIETIES ARE ADAPTED TO SOUTHERN CONDITIONS, THESE VARIETIES ARE MORE HARDY THAN THE APPLE, AND SOME OF THE IMPROVED VARIETIES GIVE AS DEHICONS FRUIT AS CAN BE ASKED FOR. CHERRIES ARE ALSO FAIRLY HARDY, AND A FEW TREES ARE A VALUABLE ADDITION TO ANY ORCHARD. IN THE Milder SECTIONS PEACHES AND PEARS CAN BE ADDED TO THE LIST.

The question of variety is one that must be answered for individual conditions. The old standard varieties are the most reliable. Varieties that are already doing well in your section can be depended on. Your state experiment station or horticultural society will gladly furnish you a list of the varieties that are adapted to your locality. One mistake often made in setting out an apple orchard is in planting too many sweet and early varieties. These are of little value for market; they do not keep well and are largely wasted unless they can be canned or dried. Since the development of cold storage some of the better keeping varieties, such as Wealthy, can be kept nearly all winter. Not all farmers have ice or are located near a reach of a storage warehouse, however.

It will generally pay to put a large part of the orchard into reliable winter varieties. For home use apples are appreciated more along toward spring and summer than in the fall.

An important point to consider in selecting varieties is quality.

This is especially important in those grown for home use. When the fruit is to be shipped any considerable distance, shipping and handling conditions are of first importance, and the shipping and cooking qualities take a secondary place. Yield is also important.

Buy at the Home Nursery.

In buying fruit trees it is best to select a nursery with plausible stories of wonderful quality and yield. Some very good nurseries are located in the West, and many are located in the East, but it is difficult to separate the sheep from the goats. The best way is to make your selection of varieties and then get the trees of some reliable nurseryman in your own locality. If you can go to the nurseryman himself, or to the man who supplies him, so much the better. In that case you can select the trees yourself and be sure of getting good ones. Thrifty one or two year old trees, with well developed root systems, stand transplanting better and are cheaper than larger trees.

As soon as the trees are received from the nursery they should be "heeled in." This is done by digging a trench and covering the roots and about half of the tops with dirt. When the trees have been shipped for some distance, the roots will be frozen, so when received they should be placed in some outbuilding, covered with straw and left to thaw out gradually. In this way little harm will be done.

Preparation For Planting.

The land should be deeply plowed before planting and well disked and harrowed. It is a good practice to dig a trench around the trees to be planted.

Crushed Coral For Roads.

General Carlos Garcia-Velez, minister from Cuba to the United States, who has been traveling in the west to promote reciprocity, says that the Cuban roads of more than 1,200 miles of the most excellent macadam roads in the world.

"We used crushed coral in our roads in Cuba," said he, "and there is no better medium for road construction known. It is the most rapid improvement to water and soil and rolled smooth preserves for many years its constituency. Our government has expended $1,000,000 in the past three years in this kind of improvement and will continue until we have a perfect system of roads."

that a patient has been situated on a concrete block for constructing roads. The authorities at the time often find it difficult to believe that such a method was, they thought, in conflict with other similar roads that had been "patients," but Mr. Dickson employed a first class attorney, who fought the matter through to a successful issue.

The road of which the blocks in shape not unlike common railroad ties laid on their sides, except that they are much larger and only three or four feet in length. They have a mortise on one end and a tenon on the other end and are not notched because it makes them a continuous road, but easily repaired if broken, as one block can be taken out and another one inserted in a few moments thus. The groove is large enough to easily embed a wire and the wire is strong enough to hold it in until it is pulled taut at less cost than ordinary first class country roads cost. Mr. Dickson is in correspondence with several manufacturers of machinery for concrete roads, who assure him that a machine can be constructed to lay several hundred blocks in a day at small cost for labor. A short piece of the road is now in use between Jacksonville and Apoka and has been tested enough to prove its complete reliability as a first class road for farm vehicles or automobiles.

THE other day a small boy picked up a wreath of roses that had been dropped in the street during a funeral procession. He gave it to an old woman and said, "Me believes in decorating folks before they die." Is not that a great belief to live? It is glorious to decorate. Try it. There are many flowers, not all roses, but kind words and loving thoughts for decorating your friends as they pass your garden gate.---A. Louise Babbage.

ANOTHER GRAND-STAND PLAY.

The Republicans have made another grand-stand play in this race by advocating a system of reform in the conduct of the coming election. In a lengthy article, signed by their chairman, they suggest to the Democrats that no money or whisky be used in this election, or anything else that will tend to corrupt the voter. In answer to this the News will say that purity in elections has always been advocated by the Democratic party from the days of Jefferson down to this good hour.

Not until the Republican party came into being, and began to tamper with the ballot, and manipulate votes, was any thing else known. Not until their powerful hand took hold of the machine in this country was there any thing known but a free ballot, and a fair count. Though with a lavish hand for power and greed they ingratiated the very thing of which they now complain. More's the pity, but 'tis true. Money, and a system of intimidation in elections, both State and national, has been their principal stock in trade. And to carry the system further, they have gone so far many times as to manipulate local elections, where seemingly the result would operate to their advantage. Now they come and want to pose before the people as a party of purity and great moral reform. There is nothing to it. As the boys say, it is "too thin."

Why should the people of Breckenridge county have to be reminded about the moral standing of the men on the Democratic ticket this year? The fact is no such thing is necessary. The further fact is that they are men whose moral character and standing are above reproach, and they do not have to be told that it is unlawful to use money and whisky to carry the election. Neither did the Democrats, as a party in this county, select their ticket without first consulting the will of the majority. The same thing can not be said of the Republicans. The fact is, the present Republican ticket as made up and hatched out, was done by the ring leaders at Hardinsburg and Cloverport. Wm. Ahi, one of the strongest men they had for County Judge, was set aside, and a man who was not a candidate but a few days, given the nomination. This was done because Mr. Ahi had no money to put into the canvass. Mr. Beard, the nominee for County Court Clerk, was not a candidate, but he was put on the ticket because he had money, and for the further reason perhaps that he married into an influential Democratic family. Roy Cain, who was a candidate for this office for months, and who needed it, and who was worthy in every sense of the word, was set aside, and his claims to the nomination ignored. So all down the line the steam roller, guided by the skillful hand of the Republican leaders, did its work. Yet these apostles of moral reform now come and call for a clean election. Oh! ye gods of war, defend us. No, the Democratic party will take care of its own canvass, and look after the interests of the great common people.

John P. Haswell, Jr., is the only man who has ever edited a paper at Hardinsburg that has not tried to tear down the News with the first stroke of his pen. John Haswell remembers what the News has done for him, and he is showing his appreciation of our past efforts to help him on the road to political success. In our estimation there are few men fairer than Haswell. We have come in close contact with all, the Democrats and the Republicans. We have not forgotten their good and bad traits in newspaper association. And truly, it seems, that all of them, sooner or later, have to come home to the News for genuine help and loyal support.

When Matthias Miller drove into Hardinsburg several years ago he said, "Boys, I want your votes, but I have no whisky and will not let a man put up a drop for me to get them." The fellows went around all morning with their mouths opened and as lost as ducks out of water. Late in the afternoon a man drove in town with a wagon load of water melons. Judge Miller gave them all a feast; it was the only day they had ever had without a headache, and most willingly gave the Judge their votes. Pray, let all the candidates profit by Judge Miller's example and success.

The Democrats have no quarrel to make with the rank and file of the Republican party. They want their votes by a fair, square deal. They have a ticket of which they are proud. They are honest, upright, square men—every one of them. They will conduct the offices in a manner that will appeal to every good citizen, who he be Democrat or Republican. They are not party servers. They are not office-holders. They have no masters to serve save the people. They are of the people, for the people; and to all the people they appeal for their support.

Through deep appreciation and gratefulness to The Circle Publishing Company, New York, we clip from the Girls' Department of The Circle magazine for October, the following: "I am giving you the first of the little paragraphs that Miss Babbage will send you every month through this department; she is a girl who is 'doing things' and has learned from experience, and for that reason the little pearls of wisdom she drops for you will be of unusual value. —Editor."

We feel sorry for our good friend, Judge Adair. He hasn't a shadow of a chance to win in the Senatorial race. We have told him so time and again. He is too late getting in. He has missed his opportunity. The race is settled right now. Every county in the district is going Democratic. The Judge don't believe this, but we do, really and truly.

Bill Hall, the Republican candidate for jailer, went to Stephensport last week. He said he couldn't find a man or woman for him there, so he went to Rome, Ind., and found the situation the same way. Mr. Hall laughs and tells the story as though he enjoyed it.

Things never looked brighter for the Democrats than they do now. The enthusiasm is great. Every Democrat is a worker, and is taking a lively interest in one of the best tickets ever put up in the county by any party.

Charlie Miller is home from Eddyville. He says he has been in politics for twenty years, and he never saw things so good for the Democrats. He says the ticket is a sure winner.

KENTUCKY SADDLERS AT HORSE SHOW.

Which Began In Louisville Monday And Will Continue Throughout The Week.

Although liberal prizes have been announced for all the 57 classes of the Louisville Horse, which will be held at the armory in that city the week of October 11th, the saddle classes in particular have been well taken care of. The number of classes and the value of the awards is sufficient to insure fine competition among the prominent exhibitors of Kentucky saddle horses, which are of course the finest of the breed in the country.

The first class for five-gaited saddlers is to those under 4 years old, and for premiums offered by the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association. The next is for those not over 15, 2, and the class following provides for those exceeding 15, 2. The combination class follows, and the championship class is No. 32. The premiums in that class are offered by Paul Jones & Co., of Louisville.

In the three-gaited division the first class is for those 15, 2 and under, followed by one of those 15, 2 and under 15, 3.

The next class is for those 15, 3 and over while the ladies' class is next. The American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association offers the prizes in the next class, for three-gaited saddle horses under four years. The combination class follows, and the event will be the championship class.

Entries in these classes have been heavy, and great sport is promised. The attendance from this section of the State will be large.

Make a note now to get Ely's Cream Balm if you are troubled with nasal catarrh, hay fever or cold in the head. It is purifying and soothing to the sensitive membrane that lines the air-passages. It is made to overcome the disease, not to cool the patient by a short, deceptive relief. There is no cocaine or mercury in it. Do not be talked into taking a substitute for Ely's Cream Balm. All druggists sell it. Price 80c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 36 Warren Street, New York.

Many Surprises Are Possible in a Pin "Shower."

Elsie was a great favorite in our little musical club, and when she announced her engagement to the "dearest man in the world" we could scarcely wait to give her a "shower." So a pin-shower was decided upon. We talked over our contributions, as we were anxious to have no duplicates; and what a lot of pins there are to wear!

When Elsie commenced to open her packages her surprise and happiness made our joy complete. One parcel contained a lovely waltzpin, another a batwing in a holder, while all kinds of safety-pins in crocheted rings fastened to Dresden ribbons were found in the third. She received a charming stick-pin, collar and veil pins, hairpins of all sorts, and a dainty batwing set with rhinestones. Cubes of fancy toilet-salves, a pinup of plain black and white pins in a silk case, and even a pretty watch-pin. And the largest package contained a rolling-pin!—The New Idea Woman's Magazine for November.

that Robert Balm of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., claims to have the oldest drum in this country. I think he is right. It is better by at least one hundred years before Burgoyne and his Hessian troops landed on our shores. I now own an old drum which is in a good state of preservation whose early history is lost, but it was, no doubt, brought to America during the early colonial days, though at what time it was brought to Kentucky is now unknown. It is supposed to have been during the Revolutionary war. About the year of 1786 Col. Wm. Hardin built a fort known in history as Fort Hardin on the site of the present town of Hardinsburg, Ky. According to tradition this drum was not only beat for the garrison at Fort Hardin, but for the wars, military parades, banquets, public speaking, executions, etc., at Hardinsburg, 1786 to 1805 and it is said here that Maj. Feely, the old tenor drummer, of Hardinsburg, beat this drum on the bloody field of Shiloh. The drum is 17 inch head, 17 inches high, the air opening is where the shell is joined together and is surrounded by a device made with large brass headed tacks and is older than was ever seen here on any drum and looks like the ornaments on the old time hair covered trunks which were heirlooms of our oldest living inhabitants. The drums are turned hickory wood, the handles are charged with lead and they look as old as the drum. The drum is now used at all patriotic, political and grand army parades and memorial services.
